Our testing service is a guideline to the quality of the CD based on tests in the StageTech EC2 CD Tester. We agree to provide the test results and to verify the accuracy of the results only. A final decision on the quality of the CD is an interpretation of the test results and must be made by the end user. Complete documentation is available from StageTech on how to interpret the test results of the report provided. Each new customer will be provided with this documentation. All masters will be securely protected while in our possession. Replacement of discs lost or damaged is limited to the cost of the disc media only.
